The Fast Approaching End of the Illegal Zionist Entity

By: Kayhan Int'l Staff Writer

“By God’s help, Palestine will ultimately triumph over the Zionist usurpers. The temporary reign of the forces of falsehood will collapse.”

These words of the Leader of the Islamic Revolution are prophetic, and an indication of the fast changing political landscape of West Asia from where illegal Israel is all set to disappear forever.

The usurper entity, which for the past year-and-a-half has subjected Gaza to the most barbaric-ever genocide in the vain hope of averting the inevitable has no future.

Ayatollah Seyyed Ali Khamenei who a decade ago in 2015 had foretold the end of Israel in less than the next 25 years (2040 at the most), gave tidings to the faithful in his latest speech Saturday to a large gathering in Tehran:

“The day will come when the people of Iran and all believing nations will witness the victory of Palestine over its occupiers.”

Perhaps for the sceptical who are doubtful about basic truths and immersed in their delusional pride on military power, the fast approaching reality of the disappearance of Israel, seems unbelievable.

The facts, however, are clear. People all over the West in Europe and North America, including political parties and government officials, once considered the backbone of Israel, have awakened and realized both the illegitimacy of the Zionist entity and its inhuman racist/terrorist nature.

Irrespective of the pro-Palestinian sentiments sweeping across universities in the US, the recent announcement by US president Donald Trump of end of American hostilities with Yemen, are his words that he is not concerned with the Yemen-Israeli confrontation.

To the shock of Benjamin Netanyahu and his genocidal clique, a White House official said in clear words on Saturday that the US does not need permission from Israel – whether for the ceasefire with Yemen or for talks with the Islamic Republic of Iran.

The sense of conscientiousness is spreading throughout the world, which means sooner than later world public opinion will demand weeding out of the cancerous tumour called Israel.

This is what the Leader of the Islamic Revolution emphasized upon when he said in his Saturday’s speech that the entire world must stand up firmly against the Zionist entity and its crimes against humanity.

He stressed that Islamic unity is the key to the salvation of Palestine and end of the Zionist entity.

Uzbek Prime Minister in Tehran to Expand Relations

Prime Minister of Uzbekistan Abdulla Aripov and Iranian First Vice President Muhammadreza Aref observe a guard of honor in Tehran on Sunday.

TEHRAN -- Prime Minister of the Republic of Uzbekistan Abdulla Aripov arrived here on Sunday to discuss bilateral ties and issues of mutual interest.

Heading a high-ranking delegation, Aripov was welcomed at Mehrabad airport by Iran’s Minister of Industry, Mine, and Trade Muhammad Atabak.

Later, the Iranian First Vice President Muhammadreza Aref received the Uzbek prime minister before their meeting.

His visit includes meetings with Iranian officials and participation in a joint business meeting attended by economic authorities from both countries.

During his stay, multiple cooperation agreements between Iran and Uzbekistan are expected to be signed.

As part of Aripov’s visit, the 16th Iran-Uzbekistan joint commission will be convened, and Uzbekistan’s Trade Center in Tehran will be inaugurated.

On Saturday, Atabak discussed with his Uzbek counterpart Kudratov the details of documents agreed upon by the two countries for implementation.

Araghchi Calls for Regional Convergence at Iran-Arab Dialogue

DOHA (Dispatches) -- Iran has highlighted the West’s double standards regarding nuclear weapons, saying it is “unacceptable” that Western powers raise concerns about Tehran’s peaceful nuclear energy program while they overlook Israel’s extensive nuclear arsenal.

Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi made the remarks in an address to the Fourth Round of Iranian-Arab Dialogues conference here on Saturday.

The top diplomat reminded that the Islamic Republic’s nuclear energy activities are peaceful and legitimate pursuit in contrast to the nuclear weapons possessed by the Israeli regime.

Iran, he said, does not seek nuclear weapons and that weapons of mass destruction have no place in the country’s security doctrine.

The foreign minister said Iran is one of the initiators of a nuclear-weapon-free zone concept in Asia, calling on Western countries to abandon their double standards regarding nuclear proliferation.

“Iran is committed to the international non-proliferation regime,” Araghchi said.

For decades, the United States, its European allies, and Washington’s allied parties elsewhere across the globe have been using allegations of Iran’s pursuing non-conventional arms to either enact or agitate anti-Iranian policies, including sanctions, and anti-Iranian discourse.

This is while Iran’s leadership has categorically ruled out such endeavor in line with moral and religious imperatives.

The Islamic Republic’s refusal to either pursue, develop or stockpiles such weaponry has also been unexceptionally proven during the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA)’s inspections, making the country the most-verified member of the United Nations nuclear watchdog.

Pointing to the Israeli regime’s nuclear weapons program and arsenal and instances of its deadly adventurism and expansionism across the West Asia region, the official said, “The existence of the Zionist regime remains the single greatest threat to peace in the region.”

He condemned the United States for supporting the regime unwaveringly and exponentially, calling Washington an accomplice in the regime’s atrocities, including its acts of violence and injustice targeting Palestinians.

The foreign minister described the regime’s ongoing genocidal and other aggressive measures as a direct attempt to erase the Palestinian nation.

Such a prospect, he said, would amount to complete colonial erasure of the Palestinian nation through the most horrific forms of violence and forced displacement.

He said the so-called “two-state solution” is a myth used to delay the realization of Palestinian rights for decades, adding the Zionist regime itself has ruled out even that prospect.

Claim of Iranian Launchers Heading to Russia ‘Absurd’

TEHRAN -- Iran’s permanent mission to the United Nations has categorically rejected accusations that the Islamic Republic is preparing to supply launchers for short-range ballistic missiles to Russia.

Citing two supply launchers for short-range ballistic missiles to Russia, Reuters claimed that Iran was preparing to deliver Fath-360 launchers to Russia, which would give Moscow additional firepower in the war with Ukraine.

The missiles have a range of 75 miles (120 km) and could be used to target Ukrainian frontline positions, nearby military facilities, and population centers close to Russia’s border, Reuters said.

Iran’s mission said the allegation was “utterly absurd.”

“We regret that Reuters persists in its habit of circulating baseless allegations against the Islamic Republic of Iran,” it said in a statement.

“So long as conflict persists between the parties, Iran will abstain from rendering any form of military assistance to either side,” it added.

The United States previously accused Iran of sending Fath-360 missiles to Russia last September on nine Russian-flagged ships. But reports at the time suggested the missile launchers had not been included in the shipment.

The Western security officials and the regional source, speaking anonymously to Reuters, alleged that the delivery of the launchers was imminent but declined to provide further details, including reasons for the apparent delay in their initial transfer.

Faced with similar accusations in the past, Iran’s mission to the UN clarified in September that the Islamic Republic regarded as inhumane any military assistance to parties of the Ukraine conflict that would increase damage to lives and infrastructure.

Iran has said that the United States and its European allies have prolonged the war by sending advanced weapons to Ukraine.

UK Arrests Another Iranian on Politically-Motivated Accusations

LONDON (Dispatches) – British authorities have arrested another Iranian national over accusations of planning to target the Israeli embassy in London.

The 31-year-old suspect was taken into custody at an address in northwest London on Friday morning, police said.

It comes after three other Iranian men, aged 39, 44, and 55, were detained at addresses in the British capital on Saturday and four others at locations elsewhere across England.

Iranian Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi has categorically rejected the accusations.

In a post on X on Thursday, he said Tehran has not been informed of any allegations via proper diplomatic channels.

“We are seeing stories in the media that Iranian nationals are allegedly involved in a supposed plot to target the Israeli embassy in London,” he wrote.

“Iran in no uncertain terms categorically rejects any involvement in such actions and confirms that we have not been informed of any allegations via proper diplomatic channels.”

Araghchi said there is a history of third parties bent on derailing diplomacy and provoking escalation, resorting to desperate measures, including false flag operations, apparently referring to Israel.

Iran, he said, stands ready to engage to shed light on what has truly transpired. “We reiterate that UK authorities should afford our citizens due process,” he added.

In April, Iran’s Foreign Ministry spokesman Esmail Baghaei condemned as “baseless and unjust” accusations leveled by Britain that the Islamic Republic was connected with certain criminal groups in Europe.

Baghaei said attributing the actions of certain groups to Iran is a clear blame game meant to cover up Britain’s own destabilizing activities, particularly in West Asia.

The spokesman said London repeated its unfounded claims without any evidence despite Tehran’s calls for the UK to provide proof supporting its allegations.
