LEADER'S MESSAGE ON NOVEMBER 4

Hormuz Marks Irreversible Decline of American Dominance

Ayatollah Khamenei says Strait of Hormuz has shattered the myth of U.S. invincibility, declares 'Iran Ever Stronger' strategy the only path to absolute deterrence, warns any renewed aggression will draw a much wider response as American domination enters irreversible decline.

TEHRAN -- Leader of the Islamic Revolution Ayatollah Seyyed Mojtaba Khamenei declared that developments in the Strait of Hormuz have shattered "the myth of America's invincibility," warning that any repetition of U.S. aggression against Iran will trigger a response on a "much wider" scale and stressing that making Iran "ever stronger" through comprehensive progress is the only path to achieving absolute deterrence.

In a message issued Wednesday, November 4, marking Iran's National Day of the Fight Against Global Arrogance, Ayatollah Khamenei said Iran's management of the strategic waterway and the destruction of American military bases in regional countries have demonstrated the changing balance of power in West Asia.

"The current situation in the Persian Gulf, particularly in the Strait of Hormuz, has laid bare the myth of America's invincibility," he said, adding that the developments have exposed "the weakness and humiliation of governments that rely on powers other than their own people, and the disloyalty and inability of major powers to defend their dependent governments."

Describing Iran's actions as both a response to American aggression and part of a broader confrontation with global arrogance, the Leader said: "Iran's exercise of control over the Strait of Hormuz and the destruction of American military bases in regional countries, although a response to America's aggression and crimes during the Third Imposed War, also constituted an initial jihad against global arrogance on a regional scale."

"Should such aggression be repeated, the response will assume far wider dimensions," he warned.

Ayatollah Khamenei said American domination is experiencing an irreversible decline in both military and international dimensions.

U.S. Midterm Earthquake: Trump's War on Iran Triggers Republican Rout

WASHINGTON — Democrats won control of both chambers of Congress in Tuesday's midterm elections, a rout that Republicans themselves described as a "total, complete rejection" of President Donald Trump and a direct verdict on his war with Iran.

The defeat was not merely a setback. It was a demolition. Democrats flipped at least seven Senate seats, including in Kansas—where no Democrat had won a Senate race since 1932—and Texas, where James Talarico became the first Democrat elected to the Senate since 1988.

In the House, Democrats flipped more than two dozen districts, some of which

Iranians Flood Streets in 900 Cities on National Day of Fighting Arrogance

TEHRAN -- Iranians took to the streets across the country on Wednesday to mark the National Day of Fighting Global Arrogance, with marches held in more than 900 locations nationwide under the slogan "Pledge to the Martyrs; Struggle Against Global Arrogance," as the nation reaffirmed its defiance of U.S. pressure and threats of military aggression.

In Tehran, the march commenced at 9 a.m. from Palestine Square, with participants proceeding along Taleghani Street toward the former U.S. embassy—seized by Iranian students in November 1979 and thereafter renamed the Den of Espionage.

Similar demonstrations unfolded in provincial capitals, including Ahvaz, where crowds chanted "Death to America" and "Death to Israel," and in South Khorasan, where rallies were held
